

Thank you for choosing to stay with us and if you booked direct, thank you and well done for getting the best price available and not paying large commissions to online travel agencies. To make your time here on Tasmania's stunning west coast, the best it can be, I have put together some information that may be of some use, especially if this is your first visit to Tasmania.

DRIVING TIPS

Tasmania is very mountainous; therefore the roads can be very windy/bendy. So if you suffer from carsickness as I do, come prepared. My favourite remedy is Blackmores' Travel Calm Ginger, available at most chemists. Other remedies are available but this works best for me. Travel times can be much longer than you may think so here is a link to a map, which shows approximate travel times around Tasmania. It is quite accurate and a very useful planning tool.

https://www.tasmap.tas.gov.au/upload/static/content/Travel_Times.pdf

Most animals in Tasmania are nocturnal so are very often on our roads at night. So if at all possible please try to arrive at your destination before dark to avoid hitting any of our precious native animals.

Petrol stations, cafe and toilet stops can also be few and far between in some areas so I have included a list, at the end, of places I sometimes stop at on my travels around Tasmania. They follow the main routes around the state. Keep in mind a lot of places close by 5pm especially in the more remote areas. I have done my best to make this list accurate but things may have changed in some areas since my last visit.

CHECK-IN

Check-in times are 2-6pm daily. If checking in outside of these hours, please call or text ahead to allow me to plan my day or evening and make other arrangements if necessary. When you arrive I can be contacted easily by pressing the doorbell at my cottage at 15 Cutten St, next door to Anchorage. (Follow the signs to reception.) The doorbell will call my mobile phone and I can talk to you through the doorbell if I am not on the premises. If I happen to be out of town on business my assistant Allison will come and check you in.

FOOD IN QUEENSTOWN

All rooms at Mt Lyell Anchorage have access to kitchens, which are well stocked with breakfast provisions for you to use at your leisure. There will be wholemeal or grain bread, eggs, a variety of cereals, fresh fruit, full cream milk, juice, butter & jams etc. and various teas, coffees and hot chocolate. I usually have gluten free cereals, bread, soymilk and lactose free milk available on request but it is best to let me know in advance if you need anything special. There is also cooking oil, rice, pasta and various sauces etc. should you wish to cook evening meals. Guests are also welcome to forage in the garden for herbs and vegetables, which vary according to the season.

Most eateries in Queenstown stop taking orders by around 8pm and the supermarkets close at 6pm - 7pm depending on the time of year. Pizza is usually available after 8pm. I do have cooking facilities for all guests so please be prepared if you are arriving late and don't forget to call me if you will be arriving after 6pm so that I can plan my evenings.

MOBILE PHONE COVERAGE AND WIFI

Mobile phone coverage can be patchy around Tasmania. Telstra has the best coverage; Optus is very patchy as is Vodaphone. We do have free Wi-Fi on the property but Queenstown's Internet service can be very slow at times. (Don't forget you can always reach me by pressing the doorbell.)

WEATHER CONDITIONS

The weather in Tasmania is quite unpredictable especially on the West Coast. It can snow or hail in December. Even in summer it is a good idea to bring at least one set of warm clothes. Nights are often chilly which is great for sleeping. Days rarely exceed 28 deg. C. Be prepared for wet weather on the West Coast, after all it is temperate rainforest. I do provide plenty of umbrellas for guests to use when staying at Anchorage. Check this site for current local weather conditions.

If there is or has been snow or bad weather, get the real story from the locals on Facebook. Look for "West cast road conditions". We are all pretty vigilant on this page about what it is really like out there.

MY RECOMMENDATIONS FOR THINGS TO DO IN THE AREA

RoamWild Tasmania.... tours with a local

I am a little biased on this one as I am co-owner with my partner Anthony Coulson but his knowledge and passion for this place, its history and environment is second to none. Queenstown and surrounds have a fascinating mining, hydropower and environmental history and we have exclusive access to some of the key areas, including Lake Margaret Hydropower station and village. These tours are a must do and I strongly advise booking before you arrive. But don't just take my word for it; check out the comments on Tripadvisor.

*Tours are very small numbers; some with a maximum of 4 guests so book ahead to avoid disappointment. *

The Paragon Theatre

Anthony and I purchased this beautiful Art Deco theatre in July 2017 and are planning a big future for it. The Paragon originally opened on October 28, 1933 and we are re-opening it on October 28, 2017 as a cinema/restaurant featuring pre-1960's cinema classics. A takeaway coffee nook will open at the end of September 2017 with tours of the cinema happening already. So pop in and see our progress in our quest to return the Paragon Theatre to its rightful place as the epicentre of entertainment on the west coast.

West Coast Wilderness Railway

History that moves you! Jump aboard the beautifully restored carriages behind the original steam locomotives that hauled tons of copper, goods and people, to and from the port of Strahan and Queenstown from 1897 to 1963. Hear the stories of the railway and its contribution to the area. Be sure to check out the "Steam/Hydro" package, which combines a trip on the railway and a tour to The Lake Margaret Hydropower station with RoamWild Tasmania.

*The train is very often booked out so please book ahead to avoid disappointment. *

The Eric Thomas Galley Museum features memorabilia and other artefacts with extensive photographic displays of West Coast history and a range of interesting literature about a bygone era. An excellent museum run by local volunteers.

Iron Blow

Where mining in Queenstown began in 1883, the Iron Blow was worked as a gold mine for 10 years before the discovery of vast deposits of copper. The Iron Blow Lookout offers wonderful views of the open cut mine, surrounding mountains and down the Linda Valley.

Lake Burbury

A 20 minute drive out of Queenstown; take in the sights or fish for trout.

Queenstown Golf Course

Nine-hole course best played in summer as wet conditions can make ground heavy in winter. Play a round and then relax with a drink in the bar. Mixed competitions are held every weekend. Lynchford Road, Queenstown. Tel: (03) 6471 1164.

Spion Kop

Named by soldiers returning from the Boer War. Enjoy fantastic views of Queenstown when you complete the steep short walk passing mining heritage exhibits along the way. Overlooks the famous Queenstown gravel football oval and a 360deg view of the town.

Miners Siding

In the bronze sculptures, depicting 21 facets of the evolution of the Mt Lyell Mines and surrounding areas, sculptor Stephen Walker has depicted significant and traditional events in the 100-year history of the Lyell District.

Queenstown Football Oval

Queenstown's gravel oval, has been described by some, as "the most infamous" football field in Australia. Now heritage listed, it certainly is one that has struck fear into visiting football sides for over 100 years.

West Coast Heritage Centre

Located in the township of Zeehan, approximately 30mins drive from Queenstown. You could easily spend all day in this world-class museum. Check out their massive mineral display which is reported to be the largest collection in the world.

Cruising the Gordon River in Strahan

Strahan is located approximately 40mins drive from Queenstown and is home to the famous Gordon River and Macquarie Harbour. Even with 2 excellent companies running cruises, it is still advisable to book before coming, especially in the summer months, as they are very often fully booked.

The other best thing to do in Strahan

For a really fun time you cannot beat the longest running play in Australia. Performed for over 24 years and still going strong. "The Ship that Never Was" is a must do on your trip to Tasmania's West. The kids will love it too. Performance daily; 5.30pm at the Richard Davey amphitheatre. Movie version shows during winter at Risby Cove Theatre.
